Cable car scheme floated to relieve congestion problems

By Owen Hughes

CABLE cars could soon be sailing over the heads of Oxford commuters if councillors "move quickly" to get the radical plans off the ground.

Green Party councillors first suggested the idea of aerial cars above the city's skyline in their amendments to last week's city council budget.

Green group shadow member for transport, culture and communities, city councillor Dick Wolff, said plans are still "in the very early stages"

Cllr Wolff is one of three members of the recently formed ACT4Oxford group which hopes to introduce the alternative method of transport to Oxford.

He added the Aerial Car Transport system would be "15 times cheaper than trams"

"Quite where the idea first came from I'm not absolutely sure

"The first time I heard about it was at a residents' group in the city centre, about introducing cable cars from Redbridge Park and Ride into John Lewis, but that was before John Lewis was built.

"There's no fixation on a particular route but they don't only have to go up or down hill.

"I spoke with [county council leader] Ian Hudspeth yesterday and I've spoken with an expert in Toronto, who we would like to get over to get his opinion."

Oxford Civic Society will discuss alternative methods of transport at its day conference in July but Cllr Wolff said he fears that would be "too late"

"Highways planners are already modelling congestion charges and restricted access to the city centre, so this idea is very timely but we have to move quickly," he said.

Lois Muddiman from Low Carbon West Oxford said the organisation would support research into cable cars as part of a "wider integrated transport solution including better, safer cycle and pedestrian routes"

She added: "We urgently need to get more people out of their cars and onto alternative methods of transport

"We can envisage cable cars being used by residents' commuters and tourists as an alternative way of travelling to the centre of Oxford or to key destinations such as the JR."

The futuristic urban gondolas would bring Oxford in line with European cities such as Brest, Toulouse and Lyon.

Plans to introduce a suspended transport network in Bath last year met significant opposition from residents concerned the cable car would dominate the landscape and allow travellers to see into gardens and houses.

No costs have been suggested for the network, but the Green Party have asked Oxford City Council for £24 000 to fund initial research.

Saddling up for cycle ride

THE race is on for cyclists to secure their place in this year's annual Bike Oxford ride.

Now in its fifth year, the ride will take place on Sunday, May 20 and will once again raise money for Helen & Douglas House in Oxford and Ronald McDonald House.

Individual riders can also nominate their own charity

Riders will have the choice of three new rides – a 25-mile social tailored to novice cyclists and families or the 50 or 80-mile challenges for the keener rider.

Organised by cycling experts Iconic Cycling Events, last year's Bike Oxford attracted more than 1,200 riders from Oxfordshire and beyond

This year's event is championed by national property developer Redrow Homes and will start and end at the Oxford University Rugby Football Club ground on Iffley Road

Entry is £36 per ride for the 80 and 50-mile rides or £26 for the 25-mile ride.

New to 2018 is a family entry for the 25-mile route at £70 for two adults and two children under 16.

Council branded traitors over homes on green belt

By George Welch

MEMBERS of the public shouted "traitors" as controversial plans for 4,400 homes on parts of Oxford's green belt moved a step closer this week.

Protestors turned out in their dozens as Cherwell District Council agreed to have the partial review of its local plan examined independently.

The decision means a plan for 1 950 homes – the biggest site – east of the A44 at Begbroke and 1,180 homes north of Oxford between Cutteslowe and the A34 will go to an independent planning assessment.

The council is also seeking permission to build another 448 homes west of the A44 near Yarnton, a further 330 on the south and west boundaries of Kidlington and another 500 on the edge of Woodstock.

Although the homes could drastically impact life in villages north of Oxford, Cllr Colin Clarke Cherwell council's lead member for housing, said the authority has an obligation to help Oxford City Council meet its housing needs

> "In some cases there is very little choice but to build on green belt"
> Councillor Colin Clarke

He said. "I can understand the views of the residents in the southern part of the district but at the end of the day from my point of view the right decision was made and had to be made. Whether we like it or not, central government is pressing local authorities to build more and more homes and in some cases there is very little choice but to build on green belt."

Thousands of homes could now be built on land supposedly designated to preserve undeveloped wild or agricultural land around urban areas.

Oxfordshire County Council and Highways England were among those to raise concerns about the potential impact of increased traffic in the area arising from the plans

Outside the meeting at Bodicote House in Banbury demonstrators chanted "save our green belt" and "stop Oxford's sprawl"

Helen Marshall, director of the Campaign to Protect Rural England Oxfordshire, said. "We need housing but what we really do need is the right housing in the right place and we don't think the plans Cherwell is putting forward meet either of those criteria."

The council also approved plans to buy Castle Quay shopping centre in Banbury and build a multi-million pound leisure complex next door

Cleared of rape

A MAN accused of raping a clubber in a city centre alleyway has been cleared of all charges.

Suranga Wijethunga, of Speedwell Street Oxford was found not guilty at Oxford Crown Court following a six-day trial that ended on Tuesday last week.

The 32-year old was also acquitted of engaging in sexual activity without consent. Jurors were told by prosecutors Mr Wijethunga had raped the woman near Atik nightclub in the early hours of June 18 last year

Growth deal agreed

ALL six Oxfordshire councils have now approved the Oxfordshire Housing and Growth Deal.

Chancellor Philip Hammond said the five councils – plus the county council – would be given £215million for infrastructure to provide affordable homes and planning to build 100 000 homes by 2031

Cherwell District Council was the last to give its support this week.

Award-winning self-harm play returns to schools

AN award-nominated play aimed at challenging the taboos about self harm is returning for a third tour of Oxfordshire schools this month.

Under My Skin has been raising awareness about the issue among the county's teenagers and promoting the services available to young people affected over the past two years.

The play will be shown to Year 8 and 9 pupils as part of an initiative to tackle self-harm and related stigma.

Self-abuse accounted for more than 552 hospital admissions of people aged 10-24 in Oxfordshire in 2015/16

The play, commissioned by Oxfordshire County Council and produced by Pegasus Theatre, was performed in 30 schools in 2017

Since starting in 2014 it has reached more than 10 000 young people in Years 8 and 9 across the county

Hilary Hibbert Biles, responsible for public health at the county council, said. "Self harm can be difficult to talk about and we wanted to continue using Under My Skin to help empower young people to discuss the issue openly and honestly ensuring they know how and where to access support if they need it."

Following its first run the play was a finalist in the Public Mental Health and Wellbeing category for the Royal Society for Public Health Awards, in October 2018

MEET Belle, the first white rhino to be hand-reared at Cotswold Wildlife Park.

Animal keepers separated the 11st infant who guzzled nearly 18 pints of milk a day from mum Nancy after needing treatment for an injured leg

A team of rhino keepers were with her 24-hours a day until she could be reintroduced to her mother Nancy

Belle was born in October with her right foreleg twisted over, meaning she stood on her carpus joint, similar to a wrist.

Belle has since gained more than 34st, her leg has healed well and she is spending more time with her mum She now drinks around 74 pints of milk a day

No threat to Cowley-built Minis from China cars

ELECTRIC POWERED Minis to be built in China will not threaten the cars future production in Oxford.

BMW, the owner of the Mini brand, announced last week that it had agreed an outline deal with Chinese manufacturer Great Wall Motor to build cars for the Chinese market.

The first electric Minis will roll off the production line from its Cowley plant next year, following a deal announced last July

BMW has insisted the Chinese deal is about expanding the brand adding that it would not impact its Oxford plans.

A spokesman from BMW told this newspaper "This is about the future global potential of the Mini brand.

"It does not put into question our commitment to our UK facilities, or our plans to build the first fully-electric Mini here in Oxford in 2019."

BMW and Great Wall Motor still have to work out the exact location of their production line and how much they will invest.

The Chinese government has set a target that 20 per cent of cars sold should be electric or rechargeable-hybrid vehicles by 2025, prompting car makers to raise their investment in China.

BMW already has a joint venture with Brilliance Auto to build BMW branded cars in China.

Stabbing arrest

A MAN has been arrested after a stabbing in Blackbird Leys

A 38-year-old victim was found with facial injuries in Cuddesdon Way at around 6 35pm on Monday

Reports suggest the man was stabbed in the face, although police would not confirm that. He was treated at the John Radcliffe Hospital and has since been discharged.

A 29-year-old man from Oxford was arrested on suspicion of GBH and has been released under investigation.

Call police on 101 with information.

Power station plan

PLANS to redevelop Oxford s first power station into a an education centre are ready to be unveiled.

Oxford University and Said Business School want to restore the Old Power Station, opposite Osney Island, into conference facilities.

Designs have been drawn up and the public can have their say when they go on display at the King's Centre in Osney Mead tomorrow, from 4pm to 7pm and Saturday from 10am to midday

Emergency shelter

EMERGENCY night shelter for rough sleepers in Oxford has been extended until tomorrow

Oxford City Council activated its Severe Weather Emergency Protocol (SWEP) last Thursday

With temperatures continuing to slide and the city on amber alert for snow and ice from today (Thursday), the authority confirmed shelter would be provided until Friday when they would re-evaluate

Travellers move into Kassam

By Owen Hughes

OXFORD United s Kassam Stadium became the latest car park to be occupied by travellers in the county on Monday

The travellers set up camp in the car park behind the Gala Bingo at the Ozone Leisure Park on Grenoble Road.

It is not known if the group at the Kassam are linked to those who moved out of Pear Tree last month.

As well as Pear Tree, Thornhill, Water Eaton and Bicester Park and Ride sites have all been occupied by travellers already this year

Around 50 vehicles moved onto the Pear Tree Park and Ride on February 12 prompting Oxford City Council to begin legal proceedings to remove them on the basis of trespass

Councillor Alex Hollingsworth, board member for planning and regulatory services, said: "Occupations of this kind cause great inconvenience to car park users as well as costing councils money in legal, repair and clear up costs and lost revenue.

"The legal process necessary to move people on is lengthy and I call on the government to look at streamlining it so that any further such disruptions can be more swiftly resolved."

Before starting any action to evict, the council was required to carry out welfare assessments of the traveller community on its site

The council, working with Thames Valley Police, then issued notices to the unauthorised occupiers

Within 24 hours of being served the court notice on February 22, a similar number of travellers moved on to Bicester Park and Ride owned by Cherwell District Council, after Pear Tree was evacuated.

On Tuesday afternoon the caravans and vehicles left Bicester leaving behind gas bottles, bin bags and general rubbish strewn across the Park and Ride site near Bicester Village

Oxfordshire County Council provides six permanent sites in Oxfordshire, providing 89 pitches.

There are also 21 privately run sites in the county

'Time for government to act as the city has over air pollution'

By Owen Hughes

OXFORD City Council has welcomed a High Court decision to force the government to tackle illegal levels of air pollution in 33 towns and cities including Oxford.

The judge's ruling requires local authorities to investigate and identify measures to tackle the excessive levels of pollution as soon as possible

Parts of Oxford city centre were found to have exceeded nitrogen dioxide limits earlier this month, despite overall levels dropping by 36 9 per cent over the last decade

Councillor John Tanner, the executive board member for a Clean and Green Oxford, said: "We are very pleased with the judgement

"We want the government to help us tackle this public health emergency and now it's time they took robust action – like we are already doing."

Environment Minister Therese Coffey told Oxford West and Abingdon MP Layla Moran that she would be developing a local plan in conjunction with Oxford City Council to make sure NO2 levels are brought within legal limits

Ms Moran said: "It is shameful that the Government has spent taxpayers' money opposing this court case when what they should have done is invested that time and money in tackling the air quality problem in Oxford in the first place I'll be meeting with the Environment Minister to discuss her plans further."

Greenpeace used eye catching graphics to get the message about pollution levels in St Aldates and High Street across last month, warning more must be done to tackle the problem in the city

Oxford Greenpeace volunteer Julia Spragg said the organisation "welcomes the High Court's decision" and hopes the government will "finally get the message"

She said. "It reflects that our government's approach to tackling the air pollution crisis is far from sufficient, particularly in areas which are severely affected by dirty air such as Oxford.

"We hope that after three losses in the High Court, the government will finally get the message and properly support local measures–such as Low Emission Zones, to clean up our air and prevent the thousands of deaths this pollution is causing in the UK each year."

Oxford has been designated an Air Quality Management Area since 2010, requiring the city council and partners to produce an action plan to improve air quality

The city council is working on a Zero Emissions Zone, a scheme that will ban cars from the city centre by 2035.

A KENNINGTON choir raised more than £1 300 for disadvantaged children at a performance at the village s Methodist church.

Organised by piano teacher and choir director Trevor Cowlett, the Kennington United Choirs performed Gilbert and Sullivan s The Pirates of Penzance at last month s event.

The money raised will go to Action for Children s Here4Me project in West Berkshire.

As well as the funds raised by the choir organisers received an anonymous donation of £5,000

Booming Oxford

OXFORD has been named as the second best city in the UK for growth potential, a report published last week revealed.

According to consultancy firm Arcadis, the city scores better than all 23 other major cities, except Edinburgh, based on their attractiveness across six themes.

These included. economic performance, brand, housing, quality of life and place people and growth and infrastructure.

Go green and save money on energy bills

"LET S make Oxford a green energy city and save money as well!"

That is the message from a campaign launched this week urging city residents to switch to greener energy tariffs.

According to Oxford Big Clean Switch, a 'typical' home can save more than £300 a year by switching to the cheapest green tariff.

The coalition of community groups behind the campaign which is also part of a national drive for greener living, has developed a website so people can compare the price of different renewable tariffs

According to OBCS more than 70 per cent of people in the UK are 'very or fairly concerned about climate change, yet only 2 5 per cent of homes buy their electricity from a 'green supplier

Campaigners said that green tariffs are hundreds of pounds cheaper than standard ones with the big six suppliers

Low Carbon Oxford North is leading the greener living campaign.

Urging people to visit the new website LCON chair Alison Hill said. "We want Oxford to be the place where more people use green energy than anywhere else."

LCON said 25 per cent of the commission paid by green suppliers will go back into the community including environmental projects

The website, launched on Monday, can be viewed at bigcleanswitch.org/oxford

The Brexit bus in the city centre and inset, Layla Moran MP and Sir Patrick Stewart address the crowds Pictures: Oxford for Europe

Exit from Brexit calls as bus pulls into city

By George Welch

DOZENS of pro-EU campaigners undeterred by sub-zero temperatures demanded an exit from Brexit as they welcomed a 'banned' bus to Oxford city centre.

The bus, emblazoned with 'Brexit to cost £2,000million a week', stopped at Oxford's Bonn Square for about an hour on Monday as part of its 33-stop national tour.

Speakers including actor Sir Patrick Stewart and Oxford West and Abingdon MP Layla Moran, roused campaigners, as well as stirring a reaction from hecklers.

Sir Patrick said: "I want to urge that we think again, now that we are learning the real cost of Brexit.

"At the front of all our passports, the words read 'European Union' and then 'United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

"If Brexit happens, those first two words will be erased and I will offer it to immigration officials around the world with less pride than I presently do."

He added: "The first time I was on the continent after the [EU] referendum it was on the colourful streets of Ghent and Bruges.

"I felt distinctly uncomfortable, bordering on shame, that my country was now seeking to unravel all that had been achieved."

Mrs Moran added: "I believe in miracles. I really do. Do you remember how we deprived Theresa May of her hard Brexit at the last election?"

"Since being elected last June I feel like I've had the front row seat to a car crash. It is time to stop this."

Other speakers included Cathie Wood (Oxford for Europe) Catherine Bearder MEP (Liberal Democrat, South East England), Dr Helen de Cruz (Oxford Brookes University), Drew Galdron (Boris Johnson impersonator) Peter Burke (Oxford GP) and Elise Benjamin (Green Party and former Lord Mayor of Oxford).

Hecklers cut in accusing the campaigners of being undemocratic.

Oxfordshire County Council refused to allow the bus to stop on Broad Street, where organisers Oxford for Europe had wanted it to park.

The authority said it had to be politically neutral but after admitting it was wrong to do so, refused it as the event did not merit removing traffic restrictions.

The tour began in Camden and Islington on Wednesday last week and concluded in Luton yesterday.

Trade fair to showcase students' skills

SECONDARY school pupils are putting their business nous to the test at a trade fair.

The students will be taking part in Young Enterprise's flagship programme to set up stands and sell their products on Saturday.

The event in Abingdon Market Square aims to give youngsters first hand experience of setting up a commercial business and to develop their skills.

Supported by HSBC 16 teams from 11 schools will offer a range of products including a contactless card security product, personalised recipe box sets and a social enterprise raising awareness of the dangers of teenage drug use.

Students have made all the decisions about their businesses and have worked with volunteer business mentors for the community who offer advice and guidance.

The schools taking part are St Helen & St Katharine, Abingdon, Abingdon School, Our Lady's Abingdon Larkmead, Abingdon, Wheatley Park School, St Clare's International, Oxford Rye St Antony Oxford, Wychwood School Oxford, Oxford Academy Oxford International College Bloxham School and Tudor Hall, Banbury.

H&M Orchard Centre opening date revealed

ONE of the largest stores at Didcot's Orchard Centre is set to open its doors on March 22.

Clothing retailer H&M is offering womens, mens and childrens clothing at the new store covering a floor space of 1,500sqm.

The shop will open for the first time at 11am and the first 200 in the queue will receive an exclusive goody bag.

All customers who join the queue before the opening time will receive a 25 per cent discount wrist band to use against all their purchases on the day.

Shoppers can then trawl the racks to the sounds of an instore DJ

"The first time I was on the continent after the referendum... I felt uncomfortable, bordering on shame, that my country was now seeking to unravel all that had been achieved"

Poundland killer made threats to a neighbour

Inquest hears of danger before store stabbing

By Owen Hughes

AN Abingdon killer who stabbed a father of two to death in the town's Poundland store had previously threatened to murder his neighbour, an inquest heard.

Dr Phil Davison told Oxford Coroner's Court that Trevor Joyce of Franklyn Close, was admitted and discharged from a mental health centre after confessing to threatening a neighbour's life.

The inquest heard that Joyce who posted a death threat through his neighbour's door, told his psychiatrist that if they had been in when he knocked on their door, he would have killed them.

Joyce was arrested four times in one week just two months before the attack, before he was voluntarily admitted to Littlemore Mental Health Centre.

He was allowed to leave on October 28 2015 and just six weeks later Joyce grabbed a knife from the shelf in the Abingdon Poundland store in the shopping precinct and stabbed Justin Skrebowski, a 61 year-old art dealer from Sunnymead, Oxford.

Justin Skrebowski was stabbed to death in December 2015, his killer Trevor Joyce was jailed for life the following year

Mr Skrebowski was buying balloons for his wife Gulsen Alkan's 39th birthday when Joyce attacked him on December 7 2015 at around 11.20am.

Joyce was sentenced to life in prison in 2016 with a minimum of nine years for the manslaughter of Mr Skrebowski with diminished responsibility due to his mental functions being diminished or impaired.

More than 40 people are due to give evidence in the two-week long inquest which will examine the treatment given to Joyce who has been diagnosed with schizophrenia.

Mrs Alkan strongly fought for the inquest and in the months following her husband's death launched an online campaign for tighter control over the sale of knives in shops.

More than 52,000 people signed the petition to Prime Minister Theresa May, leading to 11 retail giants agreeing to safer storage of knives in stores including Poundland.

In March 2016 Waitrose Tesco Morrisons Asda, Sainsbury's and Lidl also agreed to change the way they sell knives, alongside John Lewis, Wilko, Argos and Amazon UK.

Mrs Alkan said at the time: "I cannot say this makes me happy because I wish so very much that it had never happened and that Justin was with me and our twins now but it is the only thing that has brought me peace."

Joyce had been sectioned under the Mental Health Act on three occasions since 1997.

Ejector seat firm fined £1.1million for pilot's death

SOUTH Oxfordshire ejector seat manufacturer Martin-Baker has been fined £1.1million for a health and safety breach which resulted in the death of a Red Arrows pilot.

Iraq veteran Flt Lt Sean Cunningham, 35, was ejected while conducting pre-flight safety checks at RAF Scampton in Lincoln 2011.

The parachute on the ejector seat failed to deploy and the South African-born airman later died in hospital.

Martin-Baker, which carries out testing in Chalgrove, admitted failing to ensure the 35-year-old's safety at a hearing on January 22.

At Lincoln Crown Court on Friday the firm was handed a £1.1m fine and had already agreed to pay £550,000 in prosecution costs.

Sentencing the company, Mrs Justice Carr said it was "an entirely preventable tragedy".

In a statement, the company said: "Our thoughts remain foremost with the family and friends of Flt Lt Sean Cunningham, to whom the company conveys its sadness, regret and apology."

The firm admitted the health and safety breach on the basis it had failed to provide a written warning to the RAF about over-tightening a bolt on the aircraft.

The company claims to have saved the lives of 7,560 aircrew.

Team GB hopeful's plea for return of her prosthetic leg

Swimmer has her specially-adapted car stolen

By George Welch

A Team GB para swimming hopeful has been left devastated after her customised car containing a prosthetic leg was stolen.

Oxford swimmer Rosie Bancroft had her house broken into and car stolen from her shared accommodation in central Manchester on Sunday.

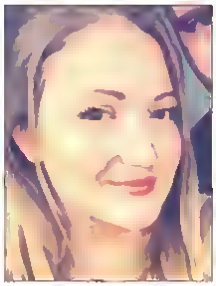
The dark blue convertible Fiat 500 has been specially adapted for the 23-year old as she does not have a right leg and foot.

The accelerator has been switched to the left side to enable her to use it, making it difficult for the thief to drive far.

It also contained the prosthetic leg Rosie uses for sports, making it a struggle for her to continue training.

The University of Manchester zoology student also a coach for the swimming club team, made a plea for information on social media.

"My car had my prosthetic leg in. I have got a prosthetic leg I was wearing at the time. The one in the car was for sport. It has taken months to get that fitted and to wear it in," she told the Manchester Evening News.



Rosie Bancroft and above, her Fiat 500 which was stolen in Manchester and contained her sports leg

"It is the first time I have had one to use in the gym. I use it for training.

"It is such a special thing for me. Nobody is going to have a use for that apart from me."

Rosie, who used to live in Horspath, added: 'I don't have a right foot the left accelerator has been switched to the left side. They would have been driving with the pedals the wrong way.

"I used to joke nobody would steal my car as how could they drive away in it."

Rosie has been training with Team GB coaches for the past three years and is hoping to compete for a medal at the games in Tokyo 2020.

She is appealing for anyone who may have seen her car with the Oxford licence plate of OY65 XRZ to get in touch with police.

Greater Manchester Police are investigating.

Firefighters battled the blaze at the thatched house on Goring

Thatched roof severely damaged

THE roof of a "beautiful" thatched house in Goring was "severely damaged" by an enormous fire.

Firefighters from Oxfordshire and neighbouring Berkshire were called to the blaze in High Street at around 9.45pm on Friday.

Crews reported being able to see the glow of the fire from as far away as Didcot and, on arrival, were confronted with a "very large and rapidly developing fire".

Firefighters had to fetch water from the Thames to help tackle the intense fire.

The fire is not being treated as suspicious and an investigation into the cause of the blaze is ongoing. Nobody was hurt.

Group manager Jason Crapper said: "Given the time at which this fire occurred, it is fortunate that the fire was spotted by passers-by otherwise the losses could have been even greater.

"I'm hopeful that the rapid intervention by the initial attending firefighters from both Oxfordshire and Royal Berkshire will enable the building to be repaired."

Goring county councillor Kevin Bulmer described the home, known as the Boathouse as 'beautiful'.

He added: "Firefighters deserve praise for fighting and containing the fire in a location that, apart from plentiful water would have been a difficult one to fight a fire from."

More people need to use food banks

MEP's report reveals 20% rise

By George Welch

FOODBANK usage in Oxfordshire has risen by almost 20 per cent over the last four years, according to a new report.

The research, published on Friday, details the extent to which people have to rely on emergency food parcels.

According to Keith Taylor MEP, foodbank dependency has risen by more than 13 per cent since he published his first report in 2013

He puts the increase down to low pay and welfare cuts 'pushing more people into food poverty'

"My report reveals a shameful side of the British economy that is deliberately hidden from view by the government " Mr Taylor said.

"As wages continue to stagnate, as Brexit continues to push up the cost of living and as the government forces ahead with its welfare cuts and the disastrous rollout of Universal Credit there is little hope this situation will improve under the current administration."

He added "Across the UK, foodbank use has soared by at least 65 per cent with even nurses being forced to rely on emergency food parcels as the reality of Britain's record in-work poverty levels hit home "

Use of food banks has risen in Oxfordshire in recent years according to Keith Taylor MEP

The government does not collect data on how many people use food banks

A foodbank was set up last year at a primary school in Prime Minister Theresa May s constituency of Maidenhead.

Restoring a piece of history

A HUGE crane has sprung up at Wallingford railway station as rebuilding work on the historic structure got under way in January

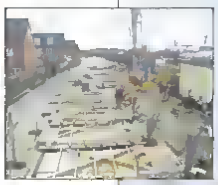
A Brunel-era canopy is being installed following a sizeable £235 000 restoration grant from the Railway Heritage Trust

The canopy was in place for more than 130 years at Maidenhead railway station but was removed as part of improvement works in October 2014

The rehoming project has taken more than two years to establish the amount of work required to rebuild the historic structure in Wallingford

Cholsey and Wallingford Railway vice-chairman Tony Stead said. "There has already been a huge amount of planning to get to where we can start restoring this historic structure

"We have already achieved a lot since the crane arrived on site and are continuing to make progress each week."



Work is expected to be completed in early 2019

The railway's next running days are over the Easter Weekend with heritage trains running on March 31 and April 1 and 2.

The Cholsey and Wallingford Railway is organising the Mayor's Railway Show which is taking place in Wallingford Town Hall on April 28

Anyone wanting to help on the canopy, or any other projects, is invited to contact the society on its Facebook page website or to call in to the station on any Saturday

The crane and canopy laid out ready for work to begin Pictures. A Stead

Connor Sparrowhawk death: medical tribunal rules on doctor's fitness to practice

Doctor's apology for 'personal failings'

By George Welch

A DOCTOR responsible for the death of Connor Sparrowhawk has finally apologised to his mother – five years after the 18-year-old died in a bath while supposedly under close supervision.

The Medical Practitioners Tribunal Service (MPTS) last week decided that Dr Valerie Murphy's fitness to practice was impaired.

She was responsible for 39 failings before Connor's death and has been suspended for a year.

Connor had epilepsy and drowned in a bath after suffering a seizure at the now-closed Southern Health NHS Foundation Trust's Slade House in Headington.

Dr Murphy failed to consider the implications of allowing him to have a bath on his own with staff checking every 15 minutes, as well as failing to make any risk assessments.

Up to this point there had been an absence of remorse but, at the tribunal, Dr Murphy accepted all the failings she had made and apologised to Sara Ryan, Connor's mum.

She said: "Words cannot express the remorse I feel at how my failings have contributed to the death of [Connor]. I am sorry that I did not seek to meet with [Connor's] mother and her family and that this has left them feeling like I did not care.

'Nothing is further from the truth. I have made apologies but I do agree that reading these now, they appear general and do not address an apology for my personal failing.

"I would like to set out in no uncertain terms, that I do apologise for my own personal failing and the role these had on the death of [Connor]."

She added: "I really did 'take my eye off the ball' in this case."

Connor Sparrowhawk drowned in a bath in 2013. Picture, Justice4JLB

The MPTS said Dr Murphy's suspension would give the doctor time to reflect on her misconduct and her case would be reviewed before it ends in a year.

Connor's death on July 4, 2013 led to the discovery that Southern Health had not properly investigated 272 unexplained deaths in its care.

In September the trust pleaded guilty to breaching health and safety law in Connor's case. It will be sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on March 19 and 20.

Mum hits out at 11th hour remorse

IT is five years this July since Connor Sparrowhawk was left to drown by people who should have been caring for him.

His mum Sara Ryan, pictured, published a harrowing book last year as part of her half-decade fight for justice in his name.

Part of that struggle has been fighting for accountability for what happened to her son.

In a post-tribunal statement Ms Ryan said: "Our beautiful son died a terrible death nearly five years ago now.

"Southern Health NHS Foundation Trust chose not to refer Valerie Murphy, Connor's responsible clinician, to the General Medical Council (GMC) for investigation.

"Instead they referred six nurses to the Nursing and Midwifery Council (NMC). We had to refer her ourselves.

"Over the past four years, Valerie Murphy has repeatedly failed to show any remorse and has failed to apologise to us.

"She has allowed her legal counsel on two occasions to subject me to cruel cross-examination insinuating I was somehow responsible for his death. At the sanction hearing she apologised to the tribunal for Connor's death.

"This experience has been unimaginably brutal and not unusual. Families whose loved ones die in state care are commonly re-traumatised by these processes."

She added on Twitter that the "truly extraordinary" apology was "remorse at the 11th hour".

Although Dr Murphy is banned from practicing in the UK for 12 months, it does not prevent her from working in Cork where she is registered with the Irish Medical Council.

EQUITY RELEASE

HOW EQUITY RELEASE HELPED THIS FAMILY HELP THEIR LOVED ONES

Many parents would dearly love to help their children onto the housing ladder, but many may be concerned as to how they could afford to make a telling contribution.

This was the dilemma that faced the Flower family in Oxfordshire. Their eldest daughter was desperate to make a move onto the property ladder. Having recently married, she was looking for a home of her own in which to settle down and start a family, but she simply couldn't afford the deposit. "We hated knowing our daughter was stuck in a rental property with no real prospect of getting into a home of her own in the current market."

As over-55 UK homeowners however, Mr and Mrs Flower realised that there was a way they could help. By releasing a portion of the equity in their property with a Drawdown Lifetime Mortgage, they could provide their daughter with a tax free cash lumpsum to contribute towards her deposit, and they would also have future access to their equity as and when they needed it.

"We heard about lifetime mortgages, and how they could be used to help your loved ones, from a colleague. We looked into it, and our advisor found us a plan that met our needs perfectly. We have been able to contribute to our daughter's first steps on the property ladder, and we can take comfort in knowing that we have easy access to a significant cash reserve to face any problems in the future – or, if we want, the money to pay for that dream holiday!"

With a lifetime mortgage, the Flowers are guaranteed to retain full ownership of their property until they both pass away, or both enter long term care. By choosing a mortgage provided by an Equity Release Council approved provider, they can also take comfort in knowing that they will never owe more than the value of their home. One thing it's worth bearing in mind is that accessing some of your property wealth today in the form of a lifetime mortgage may reduce the value of your estate and could affect your entitlement to means tested state benefits.

"We are also pleased that our drawdown plan allows us to retain some control over our interest – we only pay it on the money we withdraw. This helps us remain in control of our finances."

With more than 80 bespoke plans available, why not see if your home could be the secret to helping your family achieve its dreams today?

Could you take advantage of your property wealth? Call Andy Pike today on 01865 378718 to find out more.

"Andy Pike took the time to discuss my needs, offer impartial advice and explain the different options available to me. He explored lifetime mortgage policies suitable to my situation and provided all that I needed to make an informed decision. There was no sense of hard selling, or rush at all and I got back to him when I was ready to move forward. He was very professional, but approachable and friendly. Although we only met once, it was easy to make contact with Andy by phone, email or text and he always responded quickly to any queries or concerns. Although there was some delay due to the solicitor's procedures, Andy helped push things through to completion and I am delighted to have the money ready for my building project!" Mrs McDonald, January 2018

More than three million foodies have attended the popular South Parks festival since it launched in 2005

Perfect recipe for food fest

FOODIES will be dancing in the moonlight to raise funds for a homelessness charity when the gastronomic Glastonbury returns to Oxford this summer

British band Toploader known for their Platinum hit cover of King Harvest s Dancing in the Moonlight, will headline the Foodies Festival at South Parks on August bank holiday weekend.

Power pop group Dodgy and rockers The Hoosiers will be the cherry on top when they also take to the brand new Musicians Against Homelessness music stage

Alan McGee patron of Musicians Against Homelessness said, "Foodies Festival is the UK s largest food and drink festival and with such fantastic summer events it seemed a natural link to partner with a festival that reaches the hearts of so many local communities

"In turn, we're confident that they can help us raise awareness and funds for our homelessness charity Crisis by bringing popular headliner bands to their stages alongside some of the country s best unsigned musical talent"

An all-star line up will be cooking up a storm in the Chef's Theatre, including Great British Bake Off winner 2017 Sophie Faldo, Giancarlo Caldesi, Pete Gray of The Hinds Head in Bray as well as Great British Bake Off finalist 2017 Steven Carter Bailey

Tickets are available from www foodiesfestival.com.

Didcot Power Station 2nd anniversary: victims

Unprecented investigation

By George Welch

THE two authorities behind the 'almost unprecedented multi-million pound investigation into the disaster at Didcot Power Station will interview more people under caution over the coming months

Giving an update on the case, Thames Valley Police and the Health and Safety Executive also paid tribute to the men who died and their families.

A minute s silence was held on Friday to mark the two years since Didcot was rocked by the partial collapse of Didcot A power station.

Families politicians and the people of the town fell silent at 11am in respect to the four workers who died in the tragic building collapse on February 23 2016

The community has vowed never to forget and the Didcot Town Council flag was flown at half mast.

A frustratingly long investigation into what happened, why and who was responsible continues with February 23 marking 732 days since the fateful events

The body of 53-year-old Mick Collings, from North Yorkshire was found on the same day as the collapse

But the bodies of Ken Cresswell, 57 and John Shaw, 61 both from Rotherham, and Christopher Huxtable, 34 from Swansea, remained in the rubble It took 201 days to find and recover the bodies of all three men.

TVP and the HSE admitted they did not expect the investigation to go on this long. Nearly 2 000 witness statements have been taken and many more are to be conducted, the Force confirmed.

Police Assistant Chief Constable Jason Hogg said on Friday "Our thoughts today are with the family and friends of the men, as well as with those who were injured as a result of the collapse.

"We continue to offer support to the affected families and provide them with regular updates on the ongoing investigation.

"They are at the centre of everything we do while we investigate the circumstances of the collapse"

He added. "This is a highly complex and almost unprecedented investigation in terms of scale and the volume of evidence that has been collected so far

"I am aware of the need for answers as soon as possible, however we have a duty to thoroughly investigate the circumstances surrounding the collapse and we will not compromise on this"

The site is still a crime scene and a police scene guard remains in place 24/7 remembered as inquiry continues with 2,000 statements made to get to the truth

Above, image shows the four boilers on March 17, 2016 after the collapse and below, an aerial shot shows the scene as of January 25, 2018

PETER Blake, the chief inspector of construction at the HSE, has described the investigation into the power station collapse as "unique and highly complex".

On-site recovery continues and evidence has been gathered from boilers one and two. Evidence is still being collected from boilers three and four.

More than 1,900 statements have been taken from witnesses so far and a number of people have been interviewed under caution, with each interview taking hours at a time.

The four boilers weighed around 15,000 tonnes each and so far evidence has been amassed from around 50,000 tonnes of that material. TVP said they are analysing more than 3,900 exhibits.

Mr Baker said the authorities are working "tirelessly" to "find answers and get the truth for the families".

He added: "This investigation will also find out if any criminal offences have been committed. The incident in Didcot was unique and the investigation is highly complex, both in scale and nature and therefore will take time to conclude."

A spokesperson from RWE Npower, which owns the site, also said the process "remains complex".

In a statement, the energy company added: "This dreadful day took the lives of four men, they remain in our thoughts and we remember them and their families, especially at this time.

"We are committed to completing the evidence recovery works and the clearance works as soon as possible [so] the police and HSE can progress their investigation and the full site can be returned to RWE control."

Family flees toaster fire

AN Oxford household had to evacuate after Sunday breakfast took a fiery turn.

Residents of a Nowell Road home in Rose Hill fled after their toaster caught fire and threatened to take hold of the kitchen.

The incident happened shortly before 10am on February 18.

Two fire engines arrived on the scene with a fire spreading from the back of the property.

The flames were extinguished using high pressure hose reels, and damage was contained to the kitchen.

Incident commander crew manager Michael Milling, of Slade Fire Station, said: "The occupiers of the property were alerted by the smell of smoke and the actuation of the smoke detectors. They managed to close the kitchen door to minimise fire spread and smoke damage to the rest of the property and made their way safely out of the property before calling the fire service.

"I would also like to remind the public to ensure that you have working smoke alarms that are tested weekly and not to leave cooking unattended."

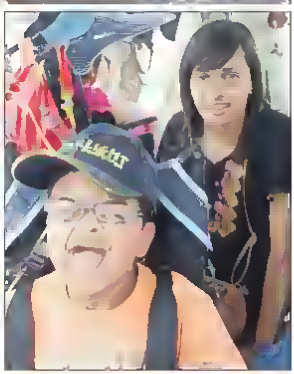
Charity of the year 2018 – Helen & Douglas House

Great Wall of China trek to help 'second family'



By George Welch

WALKING the spectacular Great Wall of China is a bucket list classic – but one ardent fundraiser will walk a 50km stretch for very different reasons.

Nayaab Iqbal, from Headington, has signed up for Helen & Douglas House's Great Wall of China Trek in memory of her brother Haider, who died in 2012 aged just 12.

The 21 year old wants to give something back to our charity of the year which cared for Haider from just eight months old.

He was born five weeks prematurely with a rare, life-threatening condition called Rame Syndrome, which causes bone deformity.

Haider died at Helen & Douglas House and the charity still helps the family – including Nayaab's parents and younger brother with counselling, support groups and activity days six years after his death.

"I really want to take some time now to give back to Helen & Douglas House and everything they have done for us," Nayaab said.

"I thought what better way than to jump straight in the deep end with trekking the Great Wall of China. I can picture Haider laughing at the thought of this already but I know he loved Helen & Douglas House and he would be so happy about this."

She added, "Haider truly lived his life to the full, enjoying every moment and taking us on his incredible journey with him, with laughter, love and joy.

"On Haider's last day Helen & Douglas House were so accommodating to our beliefs and made what was the hardest time for us, somewhat better.

"They became like a second family and I can honestly say I don't know what we would have done if it wasn't for the support and care of the incredible staff at Helen & Douglas House."

The charity is appealing for others to take on the daunting challenge – taking place from October 27 to November 4.

Stretching over 5,500 miles, the Great Wall of China is the longest human made structure on the planet. Located to north China it crosses vast deserts, barren plains and snow-capped mountains.

Gemma Deacon of Bloor Homes delivers cupcakes to nursing staff at Helen & Douglas House on Random Acts of Kindness Day

Housing developer builds relationship

POORLY youngsters and nursing staff at Helen & Douglas House got their teeth into some tasty treats on a day that celebrated special things people do for others.

Housing developer Bloor Homes donated the yummy cupcakes as part of last month's Random Acts of Kindness Day.

Vanessa Macnee, sales director for Bloor Homes, said it was important for the company to support important causes within the surrounding communities of their developments.

She said: "When we began work on our nearby developments in Drayton, Thame and Chinnor we quickly became aware of Helen & Douglas House and the fantastic support which its staff provide for patients and their families in the local area.

"On Random Acts of Kindness Day we therefore wanted to make a small gesture to recognise the efforts of all the staff at Helen & Douglas House – we hope that the cupcakes came as a nice surprise and that they were enjoyed by all."

The disabled spaces at Oxford Parkway. Picture: @IsabelOakeshott

Picture sparks controversy

The former political editor of the Sunday Times posted the image on Twitter last week.

The image of empty blue badge bays at the station was accompanied with the post "a triumph of political correctness over common sense."

In response to those who highlighted the number of spaces for all drivers, Ms Oakeshott said the spaces were disproportionate, "unless the Paralympics are coming to Oxford"

She added: "The entire car park is full except this area...it was so packed that all the motorbike spaces were full of cars."

The post had more than 1,200 replies and retweets as well as 2,200 likes.

In reply Twitter user Tristan said: "There are around 700-800 non disabled spaces there and 40 disabled. Don't see what the problem is."

Another user, Richard Bentall, said: "Do you think it's wrong to have disabled parking places? Or is your complaint that in this one particular place, someone miscalculated the number required?"

In response to that, Ms Oakeshott said: "I think you know the answer to that question. Unless the Paralympics are coming to Oxford, pretty obvious this is disproportionate."

According to National Rail, Oxford Parkway has 800 spaces, 40 of which are for disabled motorists.

Spreading the word to encourage library use

By George Welch

OXFORDSHIRE'S libraries are "thriving – not just surviving", according to Libraries Minister Michael Ellis.

The Northampton North MP was one of more than 100 guests to attend last week's official opening of Oxfordshire County Library.

He toured the facility and spoke to staff and volunteers about the library's transformation and wider network of 43 county branches.

Mr Ellis said: "This is a wonderful example of a library that is an integral part of the community here and I want to congratulate the county council, and all the staff, partners and volunteers for all the work they have done to rejuvenate this library.

"We want to see libraries thrive – not just survive – and this is an example of a library that is clearly thriving.

"This is a classic example of how to do it and protect our libraries and they are still greatly valued by many people."

His Dark Materials author Philip Pullman was also left 'very impressed' by the revamped library which has picked up more than 2,000 members since it re-opened its doors.

Mr Pullman called last year for a halt to the "shocking decline" in England's school libraries. It is believed a quarter of schools have no librarian.

Oxfordshire county councillor Lorraine Lindsay-Gale, responsible for property, cultural and community services, emphasised the role the library would play in terms of access to council services.

She said: "This library is the hub that coordinates the services in a network of 43 libraries across the county.

"We want our libraries to be seen and used as dynamic focal points for the people they serve, bringing people together and helping to cement a true sense of place."

She added: "I am proud of the fact that Oxfordshire has kept all its libraries open and this could not have been done without working in partnership with communities. The hard work and commitment of community groups has been instrumental and I need to thank them all."

The updated £6million library stores 500,000 books and 70 public computers.

Broadband boss reaps rewards

BUSINESSMAN Matthew Hare has been recognised for helping spread fast speed broadband across rural, hard to reach communities.

The Appleton man became the first British industry professional to receive the prominent Individual Award from the Fibre to the Home (FTTH) Council Europe awards in Valencia last month.

Mr Hare is the chief executive of Gigaclear which he established in 2010.

Based in Windrush Court, Abingdon, it is now the UK's leading supplier of full fibre broadband to rural locations across the country. It connected its 15,000th customer earlier this year.

President of the FTTH Council Europe, Ronan Kelly, said Mr Hare impressed with his personal vision and relentless ambition over the years to cover rural Britain with faster internet speeds.

Living in rural Oxfordshire, Mr Hare is no stranger to internet connectivity and reliability problems.

He said it was an "honour" to be recognised, adding that the accolade "is testament to the work we have been doing to tackle rural isolation."

WIN tickets to an evening of Johnny Cash at the Anvil

Clive John is an accomplished singer, songwriter based in Malvern, Worcestershire. However Clive is better known to thousands across Europe as the voice of Johnny Cash as he plays the lead role in the critically acclaimed theatre production "The Johnny Cash Roadshow" this is the only show to be endorsed by the Cash family.

You have the chance to experience this first hand when the show comes to the Anvil on Wednesday March 28.

The spirit of the Man in Black is alive and kicking like a mule with an outstanding celebration of the iconic legend by the Carter/Cash endorsed Johnny Cash Roadshow.

This is gold standard, fire-cracking entertainment from the first note, delivering an inspired set of cherished numbers with impeccable rhythmic pace. A dynamic performance from an unparalleled group of highly talented musicians and a guaranteed treat for country music lovers and die hard Cash fans alike.

The stage lights up with a colourful explosion of energy, against a striking backdrop of classic screen imagery of the 'real deal' Clive John, captures the essence of Cash with exceptional style and confidence. His deep, distinctive vocals are spot on, evoking pure country magic with Walk the Line, Folsom Prison Blues and A Thing Called Love.

Charismatic duets are superb renditions of Don't You Think It's Come Our Time and Jackson, encapsulate the tender charm and uplifting humour shared by the late enigmatic pair. The music doesn't miss a beat as the set glides seamlessly along evoking a timeless quality of a golden era with fresh contemporary flair.

Martin Bentley (bass) is in a league of his own and Nick Davis (guitars) and Darren Bazzoni (drums) first class. Backing vocals by Louise Masters and Amanda Stone add sparkle and glamour as the Carter sisters complimenting the line up with equally impressive versatility.

Closing date Wednesday, March 21, 2018

Win tickets!

We have two pairs of tickets for this amazing night of music and to be in with a chance of winning one all you have to do is answer the following simple question.

Q: In what year was Johnny Cash born?

FENC NG FEATURE ADVERT SEMENT

Get ready for Winter

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all. Anna Ryder Richardson – Designer and Television Presenter – takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system.

I s been ten years since I regularly graced TV screens helping, transform people's living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards. Recently it s been more "celebrity mick ov than "celebrity make-over as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby. In this time I ve learnt quite a lot about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience.

The latest design processes mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from constructed from a variety of materials. Each has its own attributes and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years. Colourfence. For quality value, longevity, aesthetic design, this fencing system ticks all the boxes. Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden which is supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view Colourfence is the Rolls Royce of fencing. Just without the exclusive price tag. What s more it s guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team.

"I honestly believe that Colourfence is the best general purpose fencing product on the market today!"

Anna Ryder Richardson

Gardeners' Questions

Q Wooden fence panels just don't seem to last - is there a storm resistant alternative?

A The Colourfence system has been tested under cyclonic conditions to withstand storms with wind gusts up to 130mph. Unlike your wooden fence once professionally installed - Colourfence really will stay up!

Q No matter what I treat my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long.

A Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task. It s also a losing battle. Wood simply want s to rot. Colourfence offers a low maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for up to 25 years! GUARANTEED!†

THIS WEEK'S JOB

Colourfence: The ultimate garden fence?

For many Colourfence is perhaps the ultimate choice. For the last 15 years it's been widely inst alled across the UK and has steadily gained a reputation for its quality. By using the highest specification Colorbond steel in the fence structure itself complemented by the highest level of customer service from accredited Franchisees, Colourfence is now regarded by many as the premier fencing solution in the market. Immune to the rot and resistant to the weather that so quickly effects wooden fences, Colourfence has none of the drawbacks of wood – plenty of additional benefits and what's more it s better value!

Head into Winter - with COLOURFENCE

The only garden fence you will ever need!

Every gardener knows that it pays to plan ahead. If you are one of the thousands of people who watched helpless, as winter winds battered their garden, it will not be a surprise that garden fences are almost always the first casualty. Whether you have previously patched, painted or simply prayed to keep your fence going, there s no escaping the fact that timber fences will always fall victim to the weather. With Colourfence you can put your garden straight once and for all. Colourfence is scientifically tested and cyclonically rated to ensure when professionally installed, it can withstand wind gusts of up to 130mph. Once it's up – it stays up and is guaranteed to look good year after year. Safe, extra secure and hassle free – you will NEVER need to paint it, treat it or patch it. An occasional hose down will be all you need do to keep it in top condition for years to come. In fact the system is so durable that Colourfence will guarantee† their fencing to last at least 25 years. Available in a range of colours to suit any garden, with or without decorative trellis, the highly skilled installation team make short work of their dramatic transformations. Your sad old fence will be efficiently cleared and replaced, leaving you to get back to enjoying your rejuvenated garden. Pricing is just as straightforward and equally attractive. Starting costs are in line with inferior timber systems but with no annual treatments required. Colourfence saves you time and money each and every year. Their aim is your peace of mind. With a 25 year guarantee† Colourfence speaks for itself and promises a lifetime of hassle-free enjoyment.

Brought by the organisers of Bestival Common People takes place on May 26 and 27 in Oxford's South Park.

Rob da Bank said "It's been quite some ride putting together the Common People line ups for 2018

"We love South Park in Oxford a lot and it s become one of our favourite places to throw a party

"Our Disco Day on Saturday also promises to be super funky with The Jacksons bringing their disco and soul classics, but my personal highlight has to be Prince's unbeatable backing band The New Power Generation coming over from the States for a one-off weekend with us

"We couldn't get Prince but we will have all the hits

"Add in all the local Oxford bands and DJs and a real focus on family fun and entertainment and I promise you a magical May weekend awaits"

Councillor Dee Sinclair board member for culture and communities said "We are looking forward to welcoming Common People back to Oxford for a third year

"Each year it is an extremely popular event and has quickly become embedded in the Oxford summer experience.

"The festival brings people together for a weekend of fun, and hopefully sun

Choir is a real class act

ENJOY a live cinema experience when the Sister Act Choir tour rolls into Oxford this spring

The classic 1992 musical comedy starring Whoopi Goldberg is the latest film to receive the live cinema treatment.

Sister Act Live Choir boasts a full-piece choir and band as they accompany the onscreen nuns with live performances of songs from the film s original soundtrack.

This event also marks the 25th anniversary of the successful film and takes to the stage at Oxford's New Theatre on Friday April 6

Show founder Dele Aro said "We are delighted to be touring this powerful and uplifting live cinema experience

"We were delighted to see the shows connect such a large diverse group of people to share in a unique experience and create new memories around a much-loved film."

Sister Act Live Choir features the Uplifted Voices choir who have featured on BBC Gospel Proms and provided backing choirs for the live shows on ITV's The Voice Britain's Got Talent, and The X Factor shows.

The movie Sister Act tells the story of Vegas lounge singer Deloris Van Cartier who finds her voice at the heart of the church choir after she enters the witness protection programme and ends up living in a convent.

Folk with Americana feel

By Josh Cox

MULTI award-winning Scottish singer Emily Smith and New Zealand born songwriter and multi-instrumentalist Jamie McClennan have been making music together for 15 years

Having spent much of 2016 off the road with Emily on maternity leave the couple took time to focus on writing new material.

Fresh from the break and with a plentiful offering of new music, the pair have announced a new UK wide tour and will be performing at The Mill Arts Centre in Banbury this April

The tour will showcase a new sound for the duo drawing on influences from the folk tradition, Americana and beyond

Meeting in 2002 when McClennan moved from New Zealand to Scotland fiddle player Jamie soon became an integral part of Emily's sound taking on the role of lead guitar and backing vocals and producing several of her albums To date they have performed throughout Europe, Australia New Zealand Japan Russia and North America

Alongside their solo careers they have performed with many musical greats including Richard Thompson Barbara Dickson, Jerry Douglas and Mary Chapin Carpenter as well as a host of TV and Radio appearances including Transatlantic Sessions BBC Songs of Praise BBC Radio 2's Good Morning Sunday Bob Harris Show & The Folk Show with Mark Radcliffe

Emily's original song Find Hope was also chosen as part of Radio 2's official playlist in December 2016

With rich vocal harmonies an accordion, a fiddle and a sublime guitar backing they are one of the most vibrant duos on the folk scene today Together they have racked up fantastic reviews and praise from some of the biggest industry media including Americana UK R2 and Maverick

Emily and Jamie will be performing on Friday April 20 at 8pm. Tickets cost £16

AsktheTraveller

The New Way of Booking a Holiday

YOU have a destination or type of holiday in mind but you need an expert to really make it come alive, put some flesh onto the rough ideas. You really just need someone who has been it before, done it and has up to date knowledge and experience about what's new, what's changed in the last 3 6,12 or even 18 months

Some companies have truly brilliant travel experts. The problem is it's sometimes pure luck to get the right person at the right time, the real expert in the office the person who has just come back from your chosen destination 2 weeks or even 3 months ago. This is where AsktheTraveller makes a difference.

Initially based in Oxfordshire and run by a team with over 25 years Travel industry experience.

AsktheTraveller is a new and improved way of booking your next holiday

What we are doing here is different to traditional tour operators/ travel Agents or even online booking engines AsktheTraveller combines the best aspects of a full service human experience whilst using the technology of today to connect Travellers with the real Local Experts of the destination they wish to visit. Yes we can still offer the 1 week hotel and flights just like everyone else after all we have been doing this for the very best in the UK for years. However the real difference we offer is the ability to connect you directly with the destination you want to visit.

It's simple what we offer is a real expert in your destination, communication directly with all the insider knowledge and experience that only a local can deliver You benefit from the real expert advice, the Local Knowledge the communication directly with those on the ground effectively cutting out the middle men. Then the unique benefit of having the option to fully package the trips with international flights visas etc Finally all covered by the ATOL protection you need to make your holiday safe and secure.

Our local partners are the best How do we know? Well let's just say we know who the traditional tour operators use. We have carefully vetted our partners as we know that service, knowledge, experience and exceptional value are what our clients really want

Imagine being able to say I booked my holiday to India directly with "Dipta" based in India working for a company just like most UK travel companies would have to use anyway You just cut out the middle man, received the most up to date knowledge experience and advice. Plus your flights from the UK are sorted, you're covered by ATOL in case anything goes wrong and you know you're getting amazing value for money Yes that is a big smile on your face!

Oh yes Dipta and our local partner company will be your point of contact whilst on holiday right there, ready to help not thousands of miles away

It just makes perfect sense..... so go on, AsktheTraveller!

The fate of the world rests in man's hands

By Josh Cox

NED is an engineer excited about his top secret programme with the British Government.

To his family's honor he is working on a type of military technology so advanced it will revolutionise modern warfare.

Starting to question what he is doing Ned tries to control how his new weapon will be used – but he hasn't taken into account how far the Government will go to get what it wants out of him.

Landscape with Weapon is a modern day morality tale about WMDs (weapons of mass destruction) mixed in with family feuds and food fights. The play is hilarious yet moving with themes of love, family and politics alongside plenty of moral defining decisions.

It was written by the Olivier Award winning playwright Joe Penhall, writer of Blue/Orange and creator of the hit Netflix show Mindhunters.

Ronin Theatre Productions are the company behind the play running at the Andrew Wiles Building in Oxford from March 13 to 17.

Ronin Theatre is an innovative new company dedicated to performing modern and contemporary theatre. The only company in Oxfordshire committed to performing only modern plays, the company was founded by Ashley Hunt and Alistair Nunn who have between them been involved in Oxford's community theatre scene for more than a decade.

"Landscape with Weapon is a brilliantly entertaining and thought provoking piece of theatre," said co-founder Nunn.

He added "With its sharp dialogue and telling exploration of the world of the weapons industry it's reminiscent of The Thick of It meets The Night Manager. If The Night Manager was set in Surbiton."

Tickets to see the show, and this landmark event for Ronin Theatre, range from £12 to £15. To book your place visit ticketsoxford.com or call the box office on 01865 305305.

No Black Holes for Mallory Knox

After nearly nine years together Mallory Knox recently announced frontman Mikey Chapman has decided to part ways with the band.

However 2018 marked a new chapter and the group will be continuing Mallory Knox with Sam Douglas taking the lead on vocals.

Together the band have been working hard behind the scenes writing and recording new music, including their new, critically acclaimed single Black Holes.

As part of the change-up Mallory Knox will be once again taking to the road and touring the UK, which includes a night at the O2 Academy in Oxford.

Following on from the successes of 2017, which saw the band play the main stage at Reading & Leeds for the second time, as well as a whole plethora of festivals across the UK & Europe, Mallory Knox will be focussing on playing more of the intimate and smaller gigs this year.

Still on a high from their third album Wired, you can expect to hear a run down of their previous hits as well as new material.

They will be playing at The O2 in Oxford on May 6 at 7pm. Tickets are £20.25 and can be purchased from academymusicgroup.com

CROSS CODE

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
				E								N
14	15	16	17	18	19	20	21	22	23	24	25	26
										R

Each number in our Cross Code grid represents a different letter of the alphabet. You have three letters in the central grid to start you off. Enter them in the appropriate squares in the main grid then use your knowledge of words to work out which letters should go in the missing squares.

As you get the letters, fill in other squares with the same number in the main grid and central grid. Check off the alphabetical list of letters as you identify them.

MAGIC SQUARE

CANVASSED THE HUNT

Using all 16 letters of the phrase above, form four words each of four letters which will fit in the grid to form a magic square in which the words can be read both horizontally and vertically

Quiz Challenge

1. Which female writer created the fictional character Jemima Shore?
2. Which is the longest word in the NATO phonetic alphabet?
3. The whole of the southern coastline of the Caspian Sea laps the shore of which country?
4. Which actress, born in 1944, played a teacher in the film and stage version of Alan Bennett's The History Boys?
5. What word familiar to electricians can also refer to a burden or responsibility, and may be used as an order to attack?
6. What is the nationality of the former UN Secretary General Kofi Annan?
7. What is the only number that when written in English contains all of its letters in alphabetical order?
8. A restaurant named Noma, ranked the best in the world four times by Restaurant magazine, is in which capital city?
9. Tom Holland's breakthrough role was Spider-Man in which 2016 film?
10. Brad Pitt played a character named Tyler Durden in which 1999 film?

NONAGRAM

R	D	G
G	I	N

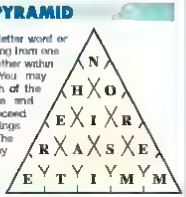
How many words of four letters or more can you make from this Nonagram? Each word must use the central letter and each letter may be used only once. At least one word using all nine letters can be found.

Guidelines:
20 Good, 35 Very Good, 41 Excellent.

Any word found in first Canadian Oxford Dictionary (Tenth Edition) is eligible with the following exceptions: proper nouns; plural nouns, pronouns and possessives; third person singular verbs; hyphenated and/or contractions and abbreviations; vulgar slang words; varied spellings of first listed word (others another variant is also eligible).

WORD PYRAMID

Spell out a 15-letter word or phrase by moving from one chamber to another within the pyramid. You may only enter each of the chambers once and may only proceed through openings in the walls. The first letter may appear in any chamber



FIVE ALIVE

CE	AH	GU	EC	KR
AU		NA		IN
RS	TA	UT	IM	OP
ED		IN		TE
SL	AE	ET	KI	NS

Here are two miniature five-square crosswords using the same grid – but the letters have been mixed up. You have to work out which letters belong in which crossword.

7 ◯ 3 ◯ 2
3 3
8 ◯ 3 ◯ 1
2 1

Place the four signs (add, subtract, multiply, divide) one in each circle so that the total of each across and down line is the same

Perform the first calculation in each line first and ignore the conventional law which says you should always perform division and multiplication before addition and subtraction.

Its official.

Hearing aids can do more than improve your hearing.

Following a survey carried out in 2015 by Anovum (a market research company) of 1325 hearing impaired people (605 hearing aid wearers and 720 not wearing hearing aids). The survey reports that hearing aids not only improve capabilities of hearing well but also improved the general health of hearing aid wearers compared to hearing impaired people who do not wear a hearing aid. Hearing aid users are less likely to think they have the symptoms of dementia, feel less physically and mentally exhausted, sleep better and are less likely to suffer from depression.

The survey confirms what some Audiologists have suspected for some time, that hearing aids are not only good for correcting hearing loss but in fact contribute to better and more active lives, better quality of life, and better overall health.

For the hearing impaired workers who wear a hearing aid it is reported that their hearing aids are useful for their job and that the hearing aids also increase the chance of them getting promoted, being in the right job and getting more salary compared to those hearing impaired people who have not obtained hearing aids.

The full report can be found at EuroTrak UK 2015 – ehima

A new hearing system is just the beginning and a hearing aid system is only as good as the audiologist prescribing and programming it.

At Keith Donaghy Hearingcare we offer the best bespoke hearing aid systems virtually unnoticeable fitting comfortably into your ear.

Keith will help you every step of the way whilst you adjust to your new hearing ability, for some this takes months for others a matter of a few weeks but Keith is always on hand to answer questions or give advice on getting the best from your system. The last thing he wants (as is often the case when insufficient aftercare is available) is for your hearing aids to end up in the back of a drawer somewhere, unused because you felt that nothing else could be done to rectify any programming or rehabilitation problems.

Keith wants to know if you have any concerns about your hearing aids no matter how big or small, so that you and he can work together to achieve the best results.

Oxford – England's number 1 for growth potential

Bill Cooper, co-author of The Oxford Property Blog and managing director of Martin and Co, Oxford

OXFORD has come first with Cambridge a close second as the city with the best growth potential in the England, according to a report published this week by Arcadis. The report highlights Oxford as having substantial potential with only Edinburgh rating higher in the UK.

The report states that Oxford and Cambridge are set to be boosted by the Oxford – Milton Keynes – Cambridge corridor.

Arcadis scored cities in several areas including economic performance, branding, housing, quality of life, quality of place, people growth and infrastructure. These measures were used to identify the attractiveness for future inward overseas investment for social and economic growth. Oxford achieved a total score of 56.1% with Cambridge on 55.8% with only Edinburgh topping them within the UK with a score of 65.5%. The report looked at a total of 24 UK cities.

Particularly highlighted were collaboration and JV investments as key to fulfilling the potential, especially in housing and infrastructure – which is a key focus of the Oxford Cambridge Corridor project. The report states that the corridor will improve investment potential by reducing congestion, making housing more affordable and enhancing connectivity. The corridor is expected to play an important part in enhancing future investment, particularly in the following key areas.

- Housing – to reduce the ratio of average house prices to average earnings
- Road congestion – reducing the hours spent per year in traffic jams
- Enhanced airport connectivity – to improve journey times to and from key airports.

The first two of these has been given top priority in the work of the Oxfordshire Growth Board (consisting of all six Oxfordshire local authorities). The £215 million Housing and Growth Deal between Oxfordshire and the government is expected to be signed off at the end of this month and will support the opening up of new housing sites around the county and the development of a Local Industrial Strategy for Oxfordshire.

Regular readers will know that I have recently written about the challenge of house affordability in Oxford and the importance of additional new build focussed at the 1,2 and 3 bedroom end of the property market. New supply coming on-stream will ease entry into a congested Oxfordshire property market. Provided there is continued investment in infrastructure enabling easy access to Bicester, Kidlington, Oxford and Abingdon for work and leisure, Oxford's property market will benefit. Oxford is an aspirational place to live and work, and sits at the top of a local property market that needs new housing supply to avoid housing affordability becoming the factor that limits the City fulfilling its growth potential.

2018: the year of opportunity for property investors

DESPITE numerous Government legislative changes aimed at stemming the growth of the Buy to Let market, we believe that 2018 will, in fact, be a year of opportunity for serious property investors.

Simply it is a myth that increased taxation has made investment in the private rented sector unviable. Certainly it will have put some off those who fell in to becoming a landlord through being unable to sell an existing home, those who inherited a property or maybe those who found two halves of a couple coming together and decided to keep one home as an 'investment' – as simply these are less likely to have had a strategically thought-out, long term vision in place that would anticipate and plan for these obstacles.

And that's the key here. Property investment isn't something to be taken nonchalantly. It may have been in the past, but nowadays it's a much more serious investment route to pursue and consequently it must have more serious guidelines associated with it. But that's not a bad thing.

For landlords who are prepared to take a strategic approach, we believe that buy to let remains a very positive investment option. Indeed, where investors have been put off and have therefore exited the market, those who remain and take a business approach, are given first access to the best of the rental properties – that's no bad thing!

However, the opportunities for growth in the private rented sector here in Oxfordshire specifically are magnified further due to a unique combination of factors.

Simply it is anticipated that the number of young people aged 18-25 in the region will grow by over 11 per cent in the next 20 years and recognising the struggles that this segment of society has in taking its first step on the property ladder it means that added demand will be placed on the private rented sector. When added to the high percentage of students and transient academic staff in the area and the increasing popularity of Oxfordshire as an accessible location within close proximity of strong transport links the opportunities for those investing in the private rented sector here are increasingly clear.

The fact remains, however, that successful property investment isn't simply a case of taking advantage of market demands, but also of investing in the right type of property, in the right area and marketing it at a competitive price. To tick all these boxes, whilst also ensuring compliance in an increasingly complex market you'll want to know that you've got a local property expert on your side.

This is where the team at your local branch of Andrews comes in. There are five branches across Oxfordshire and a wealth of information and guidance on our website www.andrewsonline.co.uk – so if you've been considering becoming a landlord and are prepared to take a long-term business approach to this, why not engage with the team at Andrews and take advantage of the opportunities that we believe 2018 have in store.

Major milestone for retirement builder.... as Wantage development hits 50% sold out

RENAISSANCE Retirement has announced it has reached a major milestone having sold 50 per cent of its new retirement apartments in Wantage.

The development opened in November and sales have been encouraging with over 15 apartments sold to date making it one of the company's fastest selling developments.

Over £1m of top end retirement apartments were sold in the opening week when the company opened the doors to the public and the company has reported another two sales in January.

The development built on the former magistrates' court and Police station on Church Street, comprises 32 one and two bed spacious apartments. The company has been attracting a wide range of interested buyers from the local area.

Renaissance Retirement's sales director Matt Smith said, "It's a very encouraging start. We are now over 50 per cent sold out and have good interest in a number of apartments. It's an exciting time for potential buyers having this choice of size of apartment and central location in Wantage."

Matt added, "There is very strong interest in the Wantage area for good quality retirement apartments. Our sales message is clear – come and view some very smart, spacious energy efficient flats while there's good availability."

Chris Wotton, marketing director at Renaissance Retirement, said, "If it's an easier lifestyle people are looking for this is perfect. Only a few hundred steps to the market square you have superb access to the very best Wantage offers on your doorstep."

Renaissance Retirement claims it's responding to market demand with its development which offers bigger more spacious retirement flats.

The luxurious properties will provide an exceptional standard of independent living for those considering downsizing from a larger family home.

The spacious one and two bedroom apartments are impeccably finished with contemporary interiors whilst owners also have access to an owners' drawing room and landscaped gardens.

Renaissance Retirement has a distinguished history; the company was handpicked by HRH Prince of Wales to build a landmark collection of retirement apartments in the heart of Poundbury Dorchester.

Noticing a demand for luxury retirement housing, Renaissance Retirement design, build and manage luxury retirement developments, with communal areas meticulously cleaned and maintained to ensure a level of comfort that one would expect in a 4 star hotel.

The company offers a number of added owner incentives and benefits, and Renaissance's complementary SmoothMove Service – which is offered to all owners at no extra cost – has proven particularly popular. This bespoke service includes a dedicated SmoothMove Consultant, who can offer advice and assistance with downsizing, the planning and setting up of their new home, and administrative tasks.

Prices start from £290,000 to £475,000.

Interested buyers can drop in for a tour Monday to Sunday 10.30 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. To register your interest for a brochure and for further information, visit www.renaissancegroup.co.uk or 01235 763398 for more information.

Suzuki Ignis 1.2 SHVS SZ5

Ignis 4x4 – the right car at the right time

By Tony Yates

I'm going to start by saying 'why is it still snowing' We are now into March, but it's still freezing. And, as I write, the snow is still falling faster than I can remove it from my footpath.

Of course, I have children, so the snow is a good thing for them because of the fun factor For me though, I'm very happy sitting in the warm watching them play until I hear 'dad, come and have a snowball fight' That's when it all goes a bit fuzzy because I know I will be the one getting pounded with snowballs just for fun! Saying that, this week's review of the Suzuki Ignis is right on target because its a 4x4, meaning the snow can come down as hard as it likes and the Ignis will just keep plodding on.

So if it's snowing by you right now then I suggest you nip down to your local Suzuki dealer and ask for a demo Talk about being in the right car at the right time.

Power & efficiency

The Ignis is powered by a four cylinder Dualjet petrol engine that produces 90ps at 6000rpm and 120Nm at 4400rpm. 0 to 62 mph is dealt with in 11.5 seconds – moving onto a top speed of around 103 mph.

The official fuel economy figures from Suzuki are; 60.1 mpg (combined) with a CO2 rating of 106 g/km – although the best I could get was around 50mpg, but then I was not really trying to get near what Suzuki had said was possible.

On the road

I like the way the little Ignis handles – but I do feel the suspension is a little bouncy – saying that, when the road gets twisty – it is more than capable of holding its own thanks to a good balance of chassis and suspension. When you think about it, it actually performs rather well and I was really impressed by this Of course, this means it gives you a lot of confidence into the corners which in turn makes it quite the drive Also when the road gets twisty – you have that wonderful Suzuki ALLGRIP 4 wheel drive system keeping you formally in check. Yes, you heard that correctly a 4-wheel drive system that does a very nice job indeed of keeping you glued to the tarmac with no muddy fields involved whatsoever.

Design & technology

My test car was fitted with decent seating and clever interior accents, which lifts even the most boring of interiors – not that the inside is boring, but you do sense that the Ignis was set out to be more practical than luxurious. Saying that it's quite plush and all the dials and controls are easy to use. But, and it's a small one, some of the plastics on the inside could have been better quality

Space – well let's just say for a small car it has bags of it – along with a decent driving position and plenty of room in the back for most adults to sit in reasonable comfort The boot is also pretty good, with max luggage capacity coming in around 1 086 litres

Some of the standard features fitted to my test vehicle included; LED daytime running lights, LED projector headlamps, ALLGRIP 4-wheel drive system, DAB digital radio with 4 speakers, USB, Bluetooth and iPod, driver and passenger front, side and curtain airbags ABS with EBD Electronic Stability Program, Hill Hold Control and Hill Descent intelligent headlights automatic air conditioning, 16" alloy wheels, cruise control with speed limiter and rear parking camera.

To sum up

Suzuki has done a fantastic job here and I expect the Ignis to do well as a feature-packed supermini that doesn't cost the earth.

Standard price (on-the-road) £15 499

Volvo XC40 crowned What Car? Car of the Year

- Volvos first ever compact SUV named What Car? Car of the Year 2018
- XC40 also takes Best Family SUV title
- Praised for its style, quality, comfort and safety
- Volvo XC60 wins What Car? Safety Award

The Volvo XC40 has won the What Car? Car of the Year 2018 award, just four months after it went on sale.

The What Car? judges were seriously impressed with the premium XC40, saying, "This is a big moment for Volvo, because the XC40 has beaten some truly exceptional rivals to win here. With its mix of comfort and class, safety and style, the new XC40 excels in all the areas that are important to buyers.

The XC40 brings a new level of flair and desirability to the compact SUV class. It mixes bold looks with cutting-edge technology, along with class-leading safety and ingenious interior storage.

Every version of the XC40 is also exceptionally well equipped. Even entry level versions come with a nine-inch touch screen centre system, satellite navigation, LED headlights, dual-zone climate control with a sophisticated interior air-quality system, and 18 inch alloy wheels. The innovative Volvo On Call remote control and emergency assistance system is also standard on every model.

Volvo's sophisticated Pilot Assist system is available across the XC40 range. This semi-autonomous drive technology assists with the steering and controls the braking and acceleration required to keep the car safely in its lane and at the desired cruising speed or at a set distance from any vehicle in front.

Commenting on the awards, Jon Wakefield, Managing Director of Volvo Car UK, said: "Winning the overall What Car? Car of the Year award for the XC40 is a fantastic result – not just for everyone here in the UK but for Volvo as a global company. The XC40 perfectly showcases the bold new direction Volvo is taking, and brings our class-leading connectivity, semi-autonomous drive technology and innovative storage solutions to the premium compact SUV segment.

"We are immensely proud of the XC40, and for the experts at What Car? to award it their ultimate accolade is the perfect start to what will be a hugely significant year for Volvo."

Eddie hoping victory will tee up first of many

HE threw his ball into the crowd before launching his cap in triumph.

He then ran his hands through his hair and puffed his cheeks almost in disbelief.

But Eddie Pepperell had done it – he had won his first European Tour title.

The Abingdon golfer held off compatriot Oliver Fisher on the final day to win the Qatar Masters and claim his first tour title at the 129th attempt.

Pepperell admitted it required mental strength to get over the line, although he did proudly acknowledge being in a "bad" state the following morning.

He shot a 70 in the final round to finish on 18-under par for the tournament, one shot clear of the fast finishing Fisher.

The 27-year-old had not exactly launched into 2018 in blistering form, but that takes nothing away from his sublime achievement.

"To pull it off is amazing," a jubilant but composed Pepperell said.

"What a day. I felt good all day. I felt comfortable.

"I didn't feel that comfortable with my swing but I was in a great place mentally and I kept telling myself that I'm going to win this."

He added: "This will give me confidence. When you win, you know you can win.

"I've always felt and believed I will win out here but it hadn't happened before today.

"You've always got to take that step and think's uneasy but at some point in everyone's career they've got to do something for the first time.

"Hopefully this is not my last."

Pepperell compiled stunning rounds of 65, 69 and 66 to begin the final round in a share of first place.

He opened up a three-shot lead at the turn, although an impressive fightback by Fisher meant the pair were separated by just a single stroke as they went up the par five last.

Fisher could have forced a play-off but missed a birdie putt from 18 feet on the 18th.

Pepperell won €233,315 (around £210,000) for winning and sits 13th in the early season Race to Dubai standings. He is not in action this week.

Stars outshine the opponents

Ice Hockey

OXFORD City Stars made light work of struggling Swindon Wildcats II and Invicta Mustangs as the division's top side cruised to a four-point weekender.

Swindon's second team lost 9-2 the last time the sides met and despite a more resilient fight back in Sunday's encounter the Stars' quality proved too much for the visitors who skated to an 8-6 win.

Neither side was afraid to attack as both pushed each other to the limits.

The Wildcats took the early lead but goals from Stewart Tait and Joshua Cox swung things back in Oxford's direction, only for Harvey Robson to level with a second left on the clock in the first period.

The score remained tied at the end of the second period as both teams notched a further three goals but Kamil Kinkor Cox and Dax Hedges finished the game off in the third period.

On Saturday, Jamie Thompson earned a shut out against Invicta in his first match back with the Stars.

The final score in Gillingham was 8-6 to City with Cox and Kinkor both getting on the score sheet alongside Theo Bundock and Martyn Gray.

Stars remain top of the NIHL South 2 on 42 points.

Snow hits Barcelona testing after promising start for teams

RESERVE driver Robert Kubica proved his worth by putting in a faster time than Sergey Sirotkin, who pipped the Pole to a Williams race seat, in his first official run out.

The Russian rookie was 0.327secs faster on day two of testing at a damp and chilly Circuit de Barcelona Catalunya, where all 10 teams tested their new cars ahead of the 2018 season.

Kubica, who has only partial movement in his right arm as a result of injuries sustained in a rally accident in 2011, finished P7 from 39 laps compared to Sirotkin's P8 from 52 laps.

Weather conditions have masked performances of all the cars but Kubica believes Grove-based Williams have "achieved the maximum we could".

He was left encouraged by his first run-out. "It is not easy to jump into a new car with such difficult weather conditions and have the confidence to push but I think we did some important work, although it was short.

"It gave us and especially myself, an idea of how to work better for the future to address some areas where we can improve the car."

The 33-year old did, however admit work needed to be done on some issues.

Lance Stroll took the Williams for a 46-lap stint without any problems on Monday.

But it was Renault who enjoyed the most satisfying opening day of testing.

The Enstone-based outfit impressed with Nico Hulkenberg fourth quickest before Carlos Sainz in for the afternoon session, took the RS18 to 99 laps for the day.

Day two was even colder and Sainz, surprised to manage 85 laps, was in for both the morning and afternoon sessions recording a P5 finish.

McLaren's Fernando Alonso unexplainably lost his right rear wheel on Monday while for Ranbury's Haas, heavy drizzle towards the middle of the afternoon meant their first day rather fizzled out.

Romain Grosjean managed 55 laps before Kevin Magnussen hopped in the cockpit for a "difficult" 38 laps in Tuesday's session.

Snow fall caused delays to the start of day three yesterday (Wednesday).

The second and final winter test, also to be held at Barcelona, will start on March 6. The lights go out for the new season in Melbourne on March 25.

■ Williams have confirmed Martini will not extend its title sponsorship when it expires at the end of the season. Deputy team principal Claire Williams stressed the team is on a secure financial footing.

Crews reveal their blues for 2018 boat races

Rowing

THE official Blue Boat crews were revealed for this year's Cancer Research UK Boat Race on Monday.

There were several former Blues and notable new additions for both races showcasing the very best collegiate athletes in the world's best known Varsity match.

On the women's side former Osiris athlete Katherine Erickson returns to Oxford from a year abroad as president of the Women's Boat Club to make her Blue Boat debut.

Former Princeton University scholar Sara Ushma and US lightweight international Morgan McGovern provide experience and power in the middle of the crew.

Oxford weigh in at 70.9kg, with the scales tipped slightly in Cambridge's favour at 73kg.

Oxford University Men's Boat Club winners in four of the last five Boat Race encounters, name a crew with three returning Blues.

Joshua Bugajski and Vassilis Ragoussis both raced in last year's winning crew, while Will Geffen competed in 2015.

Anders Weiss, a former US Olympian, is a new name on the Dark Blue roster.

Cambridge start as the heaver of the men's crews at 89.8kg per man, compared to Oxford's 85.8kg.

The 164th Men's Boat Race and the 73rd Women's Boat Race will take place over the famous course on Saturday, March 24.

'Great signing' adds two more

By George Welch

Oxford City

MARK Jones marked Oxford City's disappointing 2-1 defeat at Concord Rangers at the start of February as a 'turning point' after his side made it three wins on the bounce on Saturday

City's defeat against the fellow strugglers made it five games without a win but a tactical shake-up since then has reversed the Hoops' fortunes

The weekend's impressive 2-0 win at home to Chelmsford City ont only completed the double over the Essex side but made it three successive wins against promotion hunting teams

Jones said: "That was definitely a low moment at Concord and after we felt that if we carry on the way we are we could be in trouble, even though we have good players.

"We've changed things brought a couple of players in and changed the shape to a 3-4-3 system and it's paid off for us."

He added, "Sometimes as manager you try things and it doesn't come off. I'm not saying it was a tactical masterstroke but what we didn't do is just accept it.

"We wanted to do something about it and thankfully it's come off for us."

Saturday's win was secured after another telling impact from Milton Keynes Dons loanee Sam Nombe who netted both goals to take his tally to five goals in two and a bit games

Should Oxford survive, which they should do easily if last month was anything to go by, Nombe's signing will have been a significant factor

Singing the praises of his new start man, Jones said: "Sam looks like a great signing for us. Five goals in three games – what a start to his time here with us

"He's got good pace, knows where the goal is and is a real threat for us

"Working up there alongside Matt Paterson and Zak McEachran or Rob Sinclair looks like a potent front three."

Clearly enjoying his stay in Oxfordshire Nombe said it is "a great joy" to be playing at Court Place Farm.

Ford laments panic and lack of composure in draw

Banbury United

IT was a frustrating two points dropped for Banbury United who rounded off an unbeaten February with a disappointing 1-1 draw at home to Kings Langley on Saturday

The Puritans took the lead via a 78th minute Elliot Sandy spot-kick but sat back and, according to boss Mike Ford, 'got what they deserved when they conceded a 94th minute leveller

It is now five games unbeaten for United, but Ford cut an irritated figure after a poor defensive display caused the third draw of the month

He said, "We couldn't cope with going into the lead. We just backed off it, panicked and showed no composure.

"We lost all the composure that we'd shown in the previous two weeks – that's ultimately what cost us."

Sandy was felled in the box and the midfielder dusted himself off to score the opener from the spot

Kings Langley refused to give up though and grabbed an 94th minute equaliser when Jorrell Johnson headed home from six yards

Ford added, "If we want to be a team that are going to be challenging in and around the top boys then when you're not your best you need to win the game 1-0

"We got so deep, defensive and negative. You get what you deserve and I think the last 10 minutes we got what we deserved."

Hat-trick hero McDonagh wins over new team-mates

Evo-Stik round-up

NEW signing Conor McDonagh impressed his new Kidlington team-mates by bagging a hat-trick on his full debut in a 4-0 romp at promotion hopefuls Bideford.

The former Banbury United forward seized on a defensive lapse to give the Greens the lead at the end of a fairly even first half.

Mark James bent in a second on the hour before McDonagh made it 3-0 with 15 minutes left

He completed his hat-trick in injury time racing clear of a ragged home defence to find the back of the net.

Struggling North Leigh ended their horrendous run of results with a remarkable 1-1 draw at home to runaway leaders Taunton Town.

The Millers, who had picked up only one point from their previous 10 games fell behind to a Craig Veal foal on 15 minutes but Declan Shepperd ensured the points were shared with a left-footed effort on 56 minutes

Elsewhere in the Evo-Stik South West division, Didcot Town came from two goals down to draw 2-2 at Yate Town and stay in fourth place

An Adam Price goal no the hail hour mark and a second half Steve Davies penalty gave the home side the two goal advantage.

But Diddy fought back via a George Jeacock penalty on 53 minutes and, four minutes later, a Callum McNish strike.

Meanwhile, in the east division, Dan West scored the only goal of the game to give Thame United a 1-0 victory at home to Cambridge City

Cup glory for Littlemore after weathering Wheatley storm

Rugby

SMALL errors cost Wheatley a chance of cup glory as Littlemore held the Oxfordshire bragging rights with a 23-10 win in the 2018 Shield final at Iffley Road on Saturday

Littlemore weathered sustained periods of intense pressure from Wheatley who could not capitalise on the chances they created.

A slow start saw Wheatley concede in the sixth minute to a Stuart Beal penalty before Jonny Gerrard broke the narrow defence to score out wide three minutes later

Aaron Laman reduced the deficit with a penalty but the score could have been worse if not for Sanda Mpanza's try saving cover tackles as the purple wall did its best to avoid further breaches

Littlemore's Luke Ward found space to burrow over for a try on the stroke of halftime with Beal adding the extras as Wheatley's attacking display went unrewarded.

In the second half Wheatley were aggrieved at conceding a penalty for 'careless use of the hoot', which Beale duly converted.

Wheatley upped the intensity soon after and Jack Taylor eventually found enough space to ghost through and cross the line with Laman adding the conversion, but Littlemore were able to see out the match.

Hellenic round-up

IT was a disastrous day at the office for Wantage Town who were thrashed 4-0 at Flackwell Heath.

The Freds are now just three points ahead of the Buckinghamshire side in the Hellenic Premier Division following the heavy defeat at Wilks Park.

The south Oxfordshire side dominated early on, Nick Thnroe going closest with a fierce drive on 11 minutes

Despite dictating play, the Alfredian's fell behind to a 34th minute Dean Allen goal. Town failed to regroup and a couple of Jordan Dowdican goals in the final five minutes of the half made it 3-0 at the break.

Charlie Samuel added the extras for Flackwell on 79 minutes

Meanwhile Abingdon United conceded a last minute equaliser as they had to settle for a 2-2 draw at Fairford Town

Conor Lynch gave Fairford a third minute lead before Tom Butler levelled the scores for United.

Abingdon took the lead five minutes into the second half thanks to a John Dennis strike but Steve Alman's side were pegged back when Lynch grabbed his brace in stoppage time

Oxford City Nomads lost their fourth league game in a row after their fixture at home to Binfield on Tuesday night beat the weather

The development side lost 3-2 with goals from Craig Fasanmade (16 minutes) and Connor Mattimore (93)

Nomads are the only team in league action at the weekend, as they prepare to welcome Brimscombe & Thrupp (7th) to Marsh Lane

Important point to start era, but it could have been more

By George Welch

Northampton Town 0
Oxford United 0

Attendance: 7,095 (1,444 away)

THE Tiger era started with a draw if not quite a roar as Oxford United stopped the rot of three successive defeats with a 0-0 stalemate at Northampton Town on Saturday.

Both strugglers had their chances to nick the win, with United weathering a first-half storm before dominating the second period.

But for the U's, who started the weekend just five points above the relegation zone and four ahead of the Cobblers, avoiding defeat at Sixfields was imperative.

Caretaker boss Derek Fazackerley was relieved to get the new era for the club under way with a clean sheet and an important point.

He said: "Keeping a clean sheet, getting a point and keeping the points difference between us and Northampton in an away game was important.

"The players deserved it. It would have been cruel if we hadn't got something out of the game.

"One or two decisions we made in the attacking third maybe cost us at times but in general I'm reasonably pleased with the performance, particularly the defending.

'If anyone was going to win the game towards the end I thought it would be us."

Chris Long missed a hat-track of chances for Northampton, including two inside the first 13 minutes while at the other end, Richard Duhoo's goalbound shot was blocked on the line by Brendan Moloney.

In the second half Isaac Buckley-Ricketts clipped the top of the crossbar as Oxford grew into the game with Ryan Ledson also whipping a long-range effort narrowly wide.

The best opening af the entire game fell late on to Wes Thomas, who should have won it for Oxford but missed the target from six yards.

Skipper John Mousinho was delighted to secure a first clean sheet in nine games.

"We have been working a lot on our defence work and from that point of view we were really pleased" he said.

Oxford remain 15th but moved six points clear of the League One relegation zone.

They host 20th-placed Fleetwood Town, who are a place and a point above the trap door, in another huge game on Saturday.

'So proud to have been chairman'

DARRYL Eales said his three-and-a-half year stint as chairman of Oxford United was a "privilege"

The private equity expert from Birmingham took a step back last week after Thai businessman Sumrith "Tiger" Thanakarnjanasuth took over the club as chairman and majority shareholder.

Under his stewardship, Eales, who will maintain an influential role on the club board, implemented a coherent plan that transformed a drifting League Two club into a third-tier side with Championship ambitions.

Promotion, Wembley experiences (albeit defeats), cup runs and some scintillating performances are undoubtedly the highlights since Eales took the helm in the summer of 2014.

Frustrations over stadium ownership will linger but Eales looks back on his tenure fondly, both as a chairman and a football fan.

He said. "It has been a privilege to serve as chairman over the past three-and-a-half years.

"To be part of a team which changed the culture and mindset of the club and achieved promotion from League Two was fantastic.

"Crowds have risen from around 5,000 to an average of over 8,000 and there have been unforgettable moments – not just two trips to Wembley but the promotion day against Wycombe and the wins over Swansea and Newcastle, not forgetting those great battles against our rivals from Swindon.

'I am so proud to have been part of that."

He added. "Sharing so many experiences with our fantastic fans – sometimes on the terraces with them – has been a personal highlight."

Eales also said an update on a new training ground would be provided "in the very near future".

OxVox backing for Tiger's takeover of U's

OXFORD United's supporters club has thrown its 'wholehearted support behind the club's new owner and chairman.

OxVox met Sumrith "Tiger" Thanakarnjanasuth and Darryl Eales in recent weeks and, sworn to secrecy – admitted it has been a 'frustrating' time for fans.

In a statement released last week, the group said. "Tiger takes over at a time when the club faces a number of key challenges on and off the field.

"We look forward to hearing Tiger's plans and to working with him for the good of Oxford United and its supporters.

"Our new Thai owner joins a club whose fans are eager for it to build on the recent successes and will offer their wholehearted support to any owner that shares their ambitions to see a progressive football club that OUFC fans and the wider community can be proud of."

Tiger promised his ambitions for the club 'match if not exceed' those of the fans.

OxVox also used its statement to pay tribute to outgoing chairman Eales.

The group praised the "huge contribution" the businessman has made to the club over the last three and a half years.

The statement hailed league and cup successes as well as progress with staff development, player recruitment and an exciting playing style.

OxVox also commended Eales for the development of women's football, youth football and community work.

Ex-U's striker scores to add to her former team's woes

OUFCW

EX-OXFORD United Women star Ini Umotong scored against her former teammates for the second time in two matches.

The Brighton & Hove Albion striker scored the fourth goal in an easy 5-1 Seagulls win over the U's last week.

Umotong, who also netted in November's 2-2 draw, grabbed a well deserved goal as the south coast with a fine finish nine minutes from the end.

The defeat made it four away losses on the spin for the homesick U's who remain in sixth place in the WSL2.

Aileen Whelan was the stand out player at Culver Road, scoring a hat trick.

It was Kate Natkiel who opened the scoring though with a rifled finish on four minutes.

Whelan opened her account on the half hour mark, converting from an Umotong knockdown as Brighton dominated.

United were back in it on the hour when Chloe Chivers found the back of the net from distance.

Whelan (71 minutes) restored the two-goal cushion with a clinical finish following some more impressive play from Umotong.

Umotong, Oxford's top scorer between 2016 and 2017 made it 4-1 and Whelan (84) rounded the win and her hat-trick with an unstoppable finish.

Oxford are next in action on March 25 when they entertain Millwall Lionesses.

Tiger hoping to pounce soon and unveil new U's manager

Bellamy rules himself out

By George Welch

NEW owner and chairman Sumrith Thanakarnjanasuth has promised to announce a new Oxford United manager "imminently"

Thanakarnjanasuth, known as Tiger, confirmed at his formal unveiling on Monday that Craig Bellamy was one of four candidates the club is speaking to about the vacant manager's job

Former Wales striker Bellamy, currently part of Neil Warnock's backroom staff at Cardiff City, has long been the bookies' favourite to replace Pep Clotet, who was sacked more than five weeks ago.

But on Tuesday night Bellamy, who is a pundit for Sky Sports, revealed he had withdrawn from talks

Tiger refused to confirm who the other candidates were but that an announcement was due to be made by yesterday (Wednesday) There was no further update as we went to press in the morning.

The Thai businessman told this newspaper on Monday: "We haven't decided on anyone yet, [not] until within a day or two

"I wish [for a swift appointment], if there is someone and we like him. It may not happen so I don't want to commit to anything.

"I know it is important to make the decision as soon as possible."

The 55-year-old had experience of recruiting a manager during his stint at Championship side Reading

He was part of a consortium that ran the club for three years until last May, but was only more hands-on in the final year

Tiger spoke proudly of his appointment of former Manchester United defender Jaap Stam, who steered the Royals to the play-off final, at which point Tiger left the club.

Sumrith Thanakarnjanasuth met the media for the first time on Monday

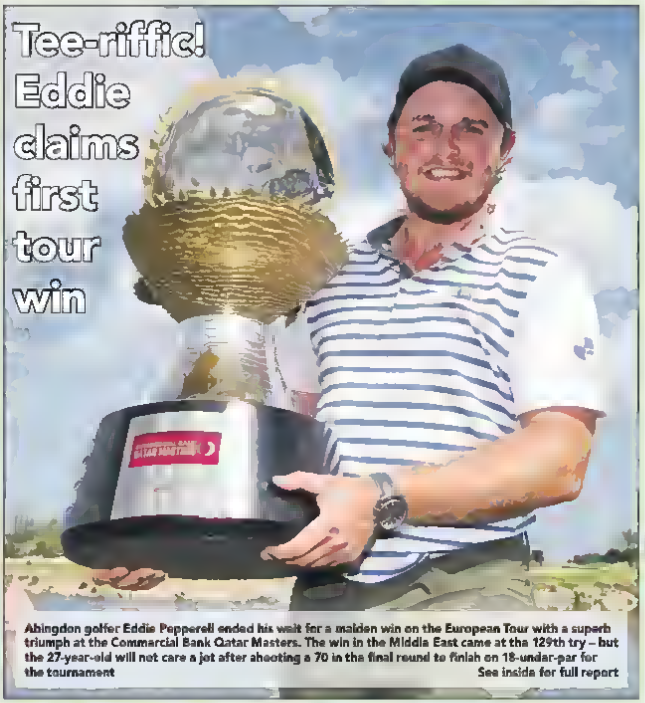
He said. "I talked to six or seven guys face-to-face and my last two candidates were Jaap Stam and Erik ten Hag [now at Ajax] and finally I had Stam in the team

"You can bring in world class managers but there is no guarantee that you are going to be a success

"There's your common sense – track record, past record, performance, personality management, is all involved – but I think 30 per cent is your gut."

Tiger, who gets his nickname from the year of his birth in 1962, the Year of the Tiger, confirmed he invested in the club's January transfer window prior to his formal takeover last Thursday

After arriving more than an hour late to his press conference – the rail network was to blame – full details of his ambitions for the club were thin on the ground.



Abingdon golfer Eddie Pepperell ended his wait for a maiden win on the European Tour with a superb triumph at the Commercial Bank Qatar Masters. The win in the Middle East came at the 129th try – but the 27-year-old will not care a jot after shooting a 70 in the final round to finish on 18-under-par for the tournament
